Showcase Events

MDL will be attending two back-to-back showcase events in June: Letterkenny Business Opportunity Showcase and Showcase for Commerce in Johnstown, PA.

In the past, more than 170 people representing 38 companies and 11 government and military organizations from across the nation attended the Letterkenny Business Opportunity Showcase. Speakers for the 2010 event are Congressman Bill Shuster and Governor Edward Rendell. We look forward to attending the annual showcase event.

The Showcase for Commerce is now the largest business and industry trade show in the Central Pennsylvania region and a nationally renowned defense contracting exhibition and symposium.

Now in its 20th year, the Showcase is the ultimate opportunity for local companies to connect with major defense prime contractors for subcontracting and partnering opportunities. In the last decade, those connections have resulted in over $2 billion in contracts for participating local businesses. The Showcase now also provides direct links to Federal and Pennsylvania government agency buyers through its Government Procurement Expo.

We look forward to the Showcase for Commerce to be one of our best opportunities to make new contacts, expand our market, find direct contracting and subcontracting work, or simply learn more about all the business that's happening in our region. If you've heard of us but never had the opportunity to meet us, please stop by our exhibit.

Certificate of Achievement

Jamie Oldham was presented with a certificate of achievement from Allegheny College of Maryland for completing a CNC Machining Operations course. Jamie has been taking courses in manufacturing and machining practices of the last year to improve his knowledge and skills in the CNC Machining Department.

Jamie earned a degree in Forestry and worked in the industry for over a decade. Ironically, he was allergic to trees and pollen and it drove him to seek another career.

MDL congratulates Jamie on his success and his steady and improving progress in his new career.

Department Supervisor, Frank Ferguson, presents Jamie Oldham with a certificate of course completion.

Employee Spotlight

Frank Ferguson can climb mountains, literally and figuratively. Two years ago he scaled the Grand Tetons in Wyoming along with his 12-year old son, Philip. But Frank has been climbing the manufacturing mountain of experience since the age of 19. He started at ground-level as a drill press operator and steadily gained experience as a machinist, tool and die making, and now, manager of the Machining Department and Estimator for all machining RFQs. Frank's work ethic and commitment to his employer has won him recognition for his efforts time and again, allowing him to gain altitude and conquer the mountain.
